

City of Redmond
Planning and Community Development
Public Works/Transportation Services

North Redmond Neighborhood Update

172 Ave NE Street Connection

With the restart of residential construction on 172 Ave NE between NE 122 and NE 124 Street, many residents are inquiring about plans to open 172 Ave NE to through traffic, future traffic calming treatments for the corridor, and the schedule for implementation.

IN PROGRESS. As part of the adjacent development on 172 Ave NE, a barricade will be installed at NE 124 Street with a sign posted that the road will open at a future (as yet undetermined) date. Through traffic will be prohibited, but emergency access, as well as access for pedestrians and bicyclists, will be allowed.

IN THE FUTURE. The City recognizes the importance of a road design for 172 Ave NE that discourages cut-through traffic, maintains residential speed and neighborhood character, and provides enhancements for pedestrians and bikes. 172 Ave NE will open to general vehicular traffic after certain conditions are met:

- The intersection of 162 Place NE and NE 124 Street meets warrants for a traffic signal, which will happen when enough residential units are built and occupied in North Redmond to generate sufficient traffic volumes.
- Funding is identified for a traffic signal and left turn lanes at 162 Place NE and NE 124 Street and the project is constructed.
- Traffic calming is completed on the corridor between NE 111 and NE 128 Street, including a roundabout at NE 116 Street and 172 Ave NE. Proposed traffic calming will be coordinated with area residents and King County.

Once these conditions are met, 172 Ave NE will open to vehicular traffic.

It is important to note that currently there are no funds for the traffic signal and left turn lane construction. The project is listed on the City's 6-Year Transportation Improvement Program (Project S40), but there is no designated funding for the project at this time. You will find the 6-Year TIP on the Transportation page under www.redmond.gov/PlansProjects.

Traffic calming on 172 Ave NE within the City of Redmond will be phased as development occurs and is primarily being funded by developers.

FOR MORE INFORMATION.
425.556.2701

www.redmond.gov/transportation
www.redmond.gov/Residents/Neighborhoods/NorthRedmond